Reflection Questions

1. What problem were you trying to solve during this service-learning project? What or who were the contributing factors to this problem?

2. What aspects of engineering did you learn about during this service-learning project?

3. What have you learned from the person/people in the community that you were serving?

4. What have you learned about your own views and abilities during this project?

5. How has this project changed or reinforced your career goals?

6. Should engineers be active in their community? Why or why not?