

Name (s): _____ Date: _____ Class: _____

Game Rubric

Score	4	3	2	1	0
Creativity	Excellent creativity used to create the game! Evidence includes an interesting presentation and new rules added to traditional games.	Good creativity to create the game. Evidence includes an interesting presentation and some additional rules added to traditional games.	You used some creativity to create the game. Evidence includes a somewhat interesting presentation and no new rules are created.	You used little creativity to create the game. Evidence includes an acceptable presentation. No new rules were created.	You did not use creativity to create the game. Presentation is lacking and no new rules were created.
Accuracy	Game includes at least eight factual details that relate nanotechnology to research area.	Game includes six to seven factual details that relate nanotechnology to research area.	Game includes three to five factual details that relate nanotechnology to research area.	Game includes one to two factual details that relate nanotechnology to research area.	Game includes no factual details that relate nanotechnology to research area.
Citations	Game includes at least one peer-reviewed citation and at least three additional citations.	Game includes zero peer review citation and at least three additional citations.	Game includes zero peer review citation and at most two additional citations.	Game includes zero peer review citation and at most one additional citation.	Game includes no citations.
Peer Review (average scores from students playing your game)	Met all criteria below: Rules were clearly outlines and easy to understand, the answer key was accurate and complete, the game worked as expected, and the game was fun.	Met three criteria below: Rules were clearly outlines and easy to understand, the answer key was accurate and complete, the game worked as expected, and the game was fun.	Met two criteria below: Rules were clearly outlines and easy to understand, the answer key was accurate and complete, the game worked as expected, and the game was fun.	Met one criteria below: Rules were clearly outlines and easy to understand, the answer key was accurate and complete, the game worked as expected, and the game was fun.	Zero criteria met: Rules were clearly outlines and easy to understand, the answer key was accurate and complete, the game worked as expected, and the game was fun.
Total Score					